

Matthijs de Zoete

specializes in civil construction law.

Matthijs studied Dutch law at Utrecht University, where he graduated with distinction. Following his graduation he joined the Masterclass in Construction Law at Utrecht University, during which he gained experience at the Arbitration board for the building industry and with a large law firm. Matthijs was sworn in as a lawyer in 2018. He previously worked as a lawyer with AKD.

Matthijs joined Straatman Koster advocaten on 1 March 2020.

Matthijs has experience in civil construction law. This experience extends to major construction disputes, for which he was previously seconded for three months to a large multinational in the port of Rotterdam (Botlek). Matthijs also advises on the development of real estate projects.

Matthijs is a member of the Dutch Young Property Lawyers Association.